

I have worked with and used many of the Sterngold restorative products for the past 4-5 years. I have not only used their InstaTemp provisional material successfully on many of my patients, but have also taught postgraduate students how to produce esthetic long-term provisional restorations using this material. I have used their flowable composite as a cementing material on unetched teeth in conjunction with InstaTemp. Sterngold has the ERA attachment, the world's most commonly used attachment, which has allowed many of my patients the ability to retain their implant supported prosthesis and give them back normal masticatory function as well as esthetics. The restorative products have enabled me to give my patients a second opportunity to find the function and esthetics we were unable to give them a few years ago.
